

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend paragraphs [0034] and [0035] as follows:

[0034] Referring to Figs. 4-7, several different embodiments of the hygiene station are depicted. The depicted hygiene stations 100 have in common that they have a support for an individual in a sitting position; that is, they have a seat (e.g. a chair or a bench) with a support ring or surface 120 (shown in phantom on Fig. 7) to hold the toilet seat 12 of the hygiene device and an open space or well 122 in which to receive the receptacle of the hygiene device (assembly is generally shown by the one or more arrows).

[0035] The hygiene stations shown in Fig. 4-6 each include a support ring or surface 120 with a recessed portion 124 around the well 122 that is adapted to receive the toilet seat of the hygiene device, as discussed above with respect to the first embodiment of hygiene station. However, such a recessed portion is not necessary, as shown in Fig. 7, where the hygiene device is merely placed on an un-recessed surface 120.
